Safety Training

Safety Training at UBC Facilities

Safety is Key

UBC is responsible for providing workers the instruction and training necessary to ensure the health and safety of those workers in carrying out their work and to ensure the health and safety of other workers at the workplace.

UBC Facilities is committed to workplace safety and offers their workers various safety training courses based on the work they perform.

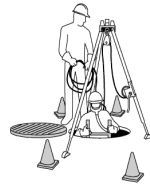

Workers must complete safety training prior to performing the respective tasks. Refresher and/or re-certification of safety training is also required and timeframe will depend on the type of safety training.

Safety training is also required for supervisors of those workers. A supervisor is a person who instructs, directs and controls workers in the performance of their duties. A supervisor can be any worker who meets this definition, whether or not they have a supervisor title.

Course Registration

New employees joining UBC Facilities are automatically registered into the required training by Caroline Soriano as part of the orientation and onboarding process.

If you are unsure of the status of your training certificates, or would like to register employees for training, please contact Caroline Soriano at caroline.soriano@ubc.ca or 604-822-4178. If you are unable to attend a training course that you are registered for, please notify Caroline Soriano to make alternate arrangements.
